

Globus Medical to Participate in North American Spine Society Annual Meeting

September 28, 2021

Unveiling Excelsius3D™ Intelligent Imaging System

AUDUBON, Pa., Sept. 28, 2021 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Globus Medical, Inc. (NYSE:GMED), a leading musculoskeletal solutions company, today announced it will participate in the 36th Annual Meeting of the North American Spine Society (NASS) being held September 29 through October 2, 2021 at the Boston Convention and Exhibition Center.

Globus Medical will present the latest evolutions in robotic spine and minimally invasive lateral lumbar surgery and showcase the expansion of their spinal implant portfolio with Excelsius™ Lateral 360. The recently launched procedural solution leverages leading robotic navigation and implant technologies to transform staged procedures into a single-position lateral surgery. Globus will also unveil the most recent addition to the Excelsius™ technology platform—Excelsius3D™, an intelligent intraoperative 3-in-1 imaging system recently 510(k)-cleared by the Food and Drug Administration. Excelsius3D™ pushes enabling technologies into the future by consolidating cone-beam CT, fluoroscopy, and digital radiography into a single imaging platform.

"As leaders in the musculoskeletal device industry, we are committed to supporting the research, education, and development of medical advancements in spine surgery," said President and Chief Executive Officer, Dave Demski. "We are proud to partner with NASS and are excited to showcase the applications and clinical experience with our most recent product innovations."

Globus welcomes NASS attendees to visit Booth #1814 for demonstrations with product experts and to view in-booth presentations below:
